Museum needs community co-operation

by GLORIA DAVIS

Antioch has often seen the banding together of its many organizations in successful community efforts, one of the latest being the building of the sawmill. Now it looks like it's again time for all good residents to come to the aid of the village.

The project in question is the turning of the old grade school on Main St. into an historical museum.

At a citizen in- meeting, held at the W.C. Petty School, on Wednesday, July 1, Antioch Grade School Supt. Don Skidmore told a gathering of interested residents that a decision on the school building's future had to be made since "the school district cannot continue to maintain it," basically referring to the $7,000 cost of the utilities per year.

The idea of turning the building, that was built in 1892 and served as both a grade school and a two-year high school for many of Antioch's residents, into a museum, surfaced in 1976. At a village board meeting last December, the village and the school district seemed to have made a big step towards this end.

The village had agreed to lease the building from the school district with the intentions of seeking funding for the museum project, Mayor Mike Haley saying, "I see this as a community project."

Then the election and a change of administration took place. New Trustee Claudette Skvarce took charge of a committee concerned with the project and examined the building, along with a representative of the state fire marshall's office.

Skvarce's negative report, based on the state fire safety code, said that it would take $160,000 worth of renovation to make the building acceptable for public use. That report brought objections from all sides.

Asst. Fire Chief Jim Quedenfeld said "If we were to go by that code we'd have to close all the public buildings in Antioch."

Marilyn Sterbenz produced a list of guidelines for restoring historical buildings that stated that they must meet only minimal health and safety standards and should be kept as close to the original state as possible.

Jim Fields used the Lake County Museum as an example saying, "Let's do this a step at a time."

Bill Brook claimed that the building was important to the history of the village and that, "It's high time that this community got about preserving its background."

Brook added that there were many people who were willing to donate local memorabilia if they felt that there would be a suitable place to house it.

Representatives of the Antioch Jaycees volunteered manpower saying, "Let's do it."

The consensus of most of those at the meeting was that the many organizations would be more than glad to take on the project.

Fields volunteered to take charge of contacting the different organizations with the aid of Brook.

Trustee William Seemann said that he would bring the museum project back up before the board at the July 6 meeting.

Grade School Board President Garnet Cook agreed that the board would wait until a meeting scheduled for Sept. 9, giving all interested parties time to contact people and drum up more interest, so that more input could be gotten at that meeting along with concrete projections.

Art Fair

Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry's ninth annual Arts and Crafts Fair will be held next Sunday, July 12, at the municipal parking lot by the water tower.

For arts and crafts lovers, the exhibits will be varied and numerous with all 180 booths taken.

The fair will kick-off with a pancake breakfast, sponsored by the Boy Scouts and from there a fun day filled with many activities is planned.

The retail committee of the Chamber will sponsor a beer and brat booth, Bernie Gunty and his band will supply live music during the day.

There will be square dancing and water fights in the early evening and the lovely new Miss Antioch, Michell Patts, will make her first public appearance.

To present budget

The proposed 1981-82 village budget will be presented at the Antioch Village Board Meeting slated for Monday, July 6, at the village hall.

Offer $90,000 for Channel Lake School

by GLORIA DAVIS

At a special meeting of the board of education of the Antioch Grade School District, held on Wednesday, July 1, at the W.C. Petty School, the board heard Attorney Mike Gantar read an offer to purchase the vacant Channel Lake School building, on Old Lake Ave., for the minimum price of $90,000, previously set by the board.

The offer, made by Mike Warren Associates and assigned, was contingent on assured lease of the building and the acquisition of mortgage financing.

The offer was made with the understanding that the building would be leased to the Waukegan Christian School, Warren being on the board of directors of the school.

The board of education unanimously voted to adopt a resolution to present a petition to the county board of school trustees to put the property up for public auction where anyone can bid on it.

This is a formality, required when any public school building in Lake County is being sold, since the Lake County Board of School Trustees holds title to all public school buildings in the county.

Any questions or objections to the manner of the sale were fielded by Garnet Cook, board president, who said, "Let's just sell the building, we've been trying to sell it for a long time and up 'till now no one wanted to buy it."

She added that the school district could no longer afford the maintenance of the building, listing the high cost of the minimal heat used in the building within the last year.

Warren will be required to put $1,000 in escrow and given 30 days, until August 1, to get financing for a $72,000 mortgage.

Branwell gets 'more latitude'

Donald Branwell, a former Antioch dentist, found innocent by reason of insanity of the multiple and fatal stabbing of his roommate, Richard Kueltzo, has been granted off-the-grounds privileges by Lake County Circuit Court Judge Harry Strouse.

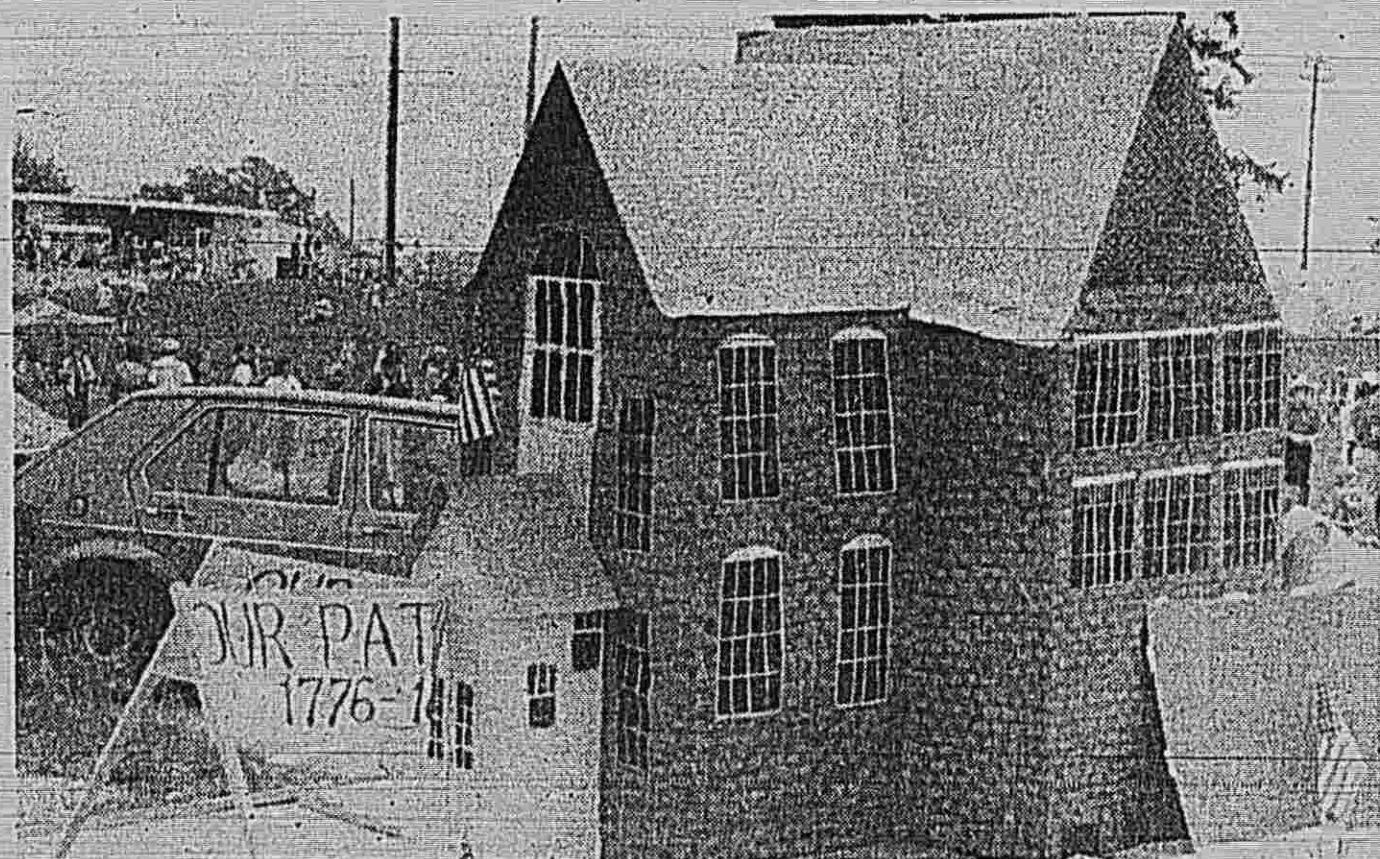

Branwell, who stabbed Kueltzo 94 times, was ordered held for psychiatric treatment by Strouse last July and has been treated at the Elgin Mental Health Center, Elgin.

The judge's decision came after a psychiatrist and a psychologist testified that Branwell's schizophrenia was presently in remission, saying that the patient needed to leave the hospital to learn how to adjust to society.

The experts have agreed though that there is no guarantee that Branwell's illness will not reoccur.

Having denied a request that he be allowed to go to Denver, Colo. to visit his father who has recently had heart surgery, Strouse okayed half-day visits into Elgin.

Kueltzo's body was found, "still bubbling," in a ditch, by Antioch Police Chief Chuck Miller and Lt. Tom Fisher after the Antioch Police switchboard had repeated calls from Branwell's brother saying that the dentist had called him to say that he had just killed "the devil."

Moose scrapbook receives praise

The Women of the Moose June business meeting was called to order by Senior Regent Louise Gutowski with all officers present.

After Guide Marge Hansen and Asst. Guide Marge Hartman invested the officers and chairmen with their emblems of office, a knock at the door discovered Joe Gutowski who wheeled in Senior Regent Louise's scrapbook and picture album.

Publicity Committee and Chairman Kathy Gutowski worked all year assembling all these things, and they did a super job. Recorder Judy Page read the applications for membership.

Those balloted upon were: Barbara Gesiskowski, sponsor Louise Gutowski; Carol Jurgensen, sponsor Terry Smallwood; Rose Gajewski, sponsor Louise Gutowski; Anna Hume, sponsor Terry Smallwood.

Junior Regent Marilyn Vynalek declared that the ballot was favorable. Recorder read the record of receipts and Treasurer Betty Dahlke agreed on the deposits. Recorder read the minutes of previous WOTM meetings and Board of Officers meetings.

Motion to accept was made by Carole Duetsch, seconded by Marge Hansen and approved by the Chapter. Committees reports were heard from Hospitality Chairman Gladys Schroeder and Membership Chairman Eleanor Walsh.

Jeanne Van Zandt was escorted to the altar to receive her chapter pin for attending three consecutive meetings; Julie Gajewski received a baby spoon for presenting our Senior regent with her first granddaughter, Erica Lynn; Junior Graduate Regent Mary Galster received her past regent's charm presented by the chapter.

Birthday Marchers for June were: Helen Lovell, Lolly Maloney and Helen Greslik, grandmother finds buying in Antioch 'enjoyable'

Mickey Greslik is happy to say Antioch merchants made a hit with her as soon as she and her family settled in Cross Lake 34 years ago.

That's how long Mrs. Greslik has been shopping in Antioch. Her experience qualifies her as a winner in the Antioch News' "Why I like to Shop in Antioch" contest. See her letter on the editorial page this week.

"Oh, I never have any problem finding what I need," declared the sprightly grandmother of four.

"I used to walk to town years ago when I didn't have the car, pulling the children in a wagon," she recalled.

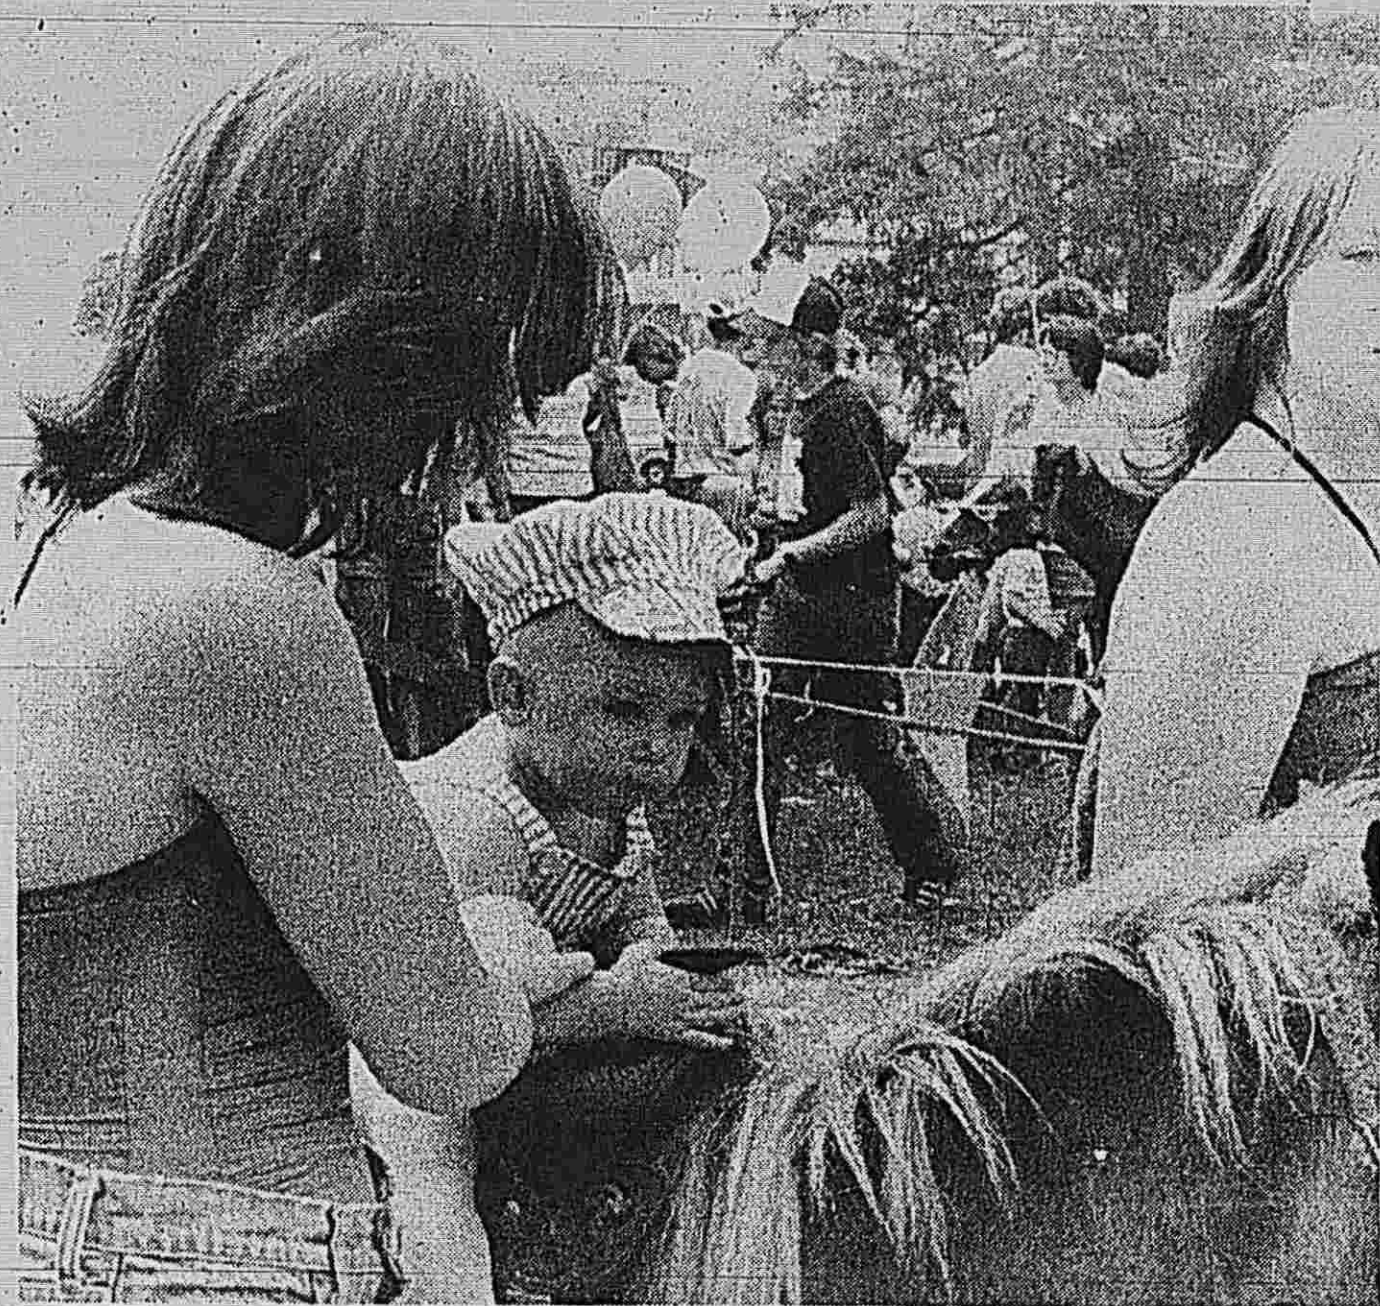

The four children of Mrs. Greslik and her husband, George, now are grown. One son is with Illinois Bell Telephone Co., working out of the Lake Villa maintenance center. One daughter resides in Florida; the other is a nurse's aide at Winchester House, Libertyville. One son lives at home.

"I buy everything from prescriptions to clothes in Antioch," reported Mrs. Greslik who also is an avid reader of the Antioch News. She also follows regularly the Bi-State Reporter, sister publication of the News, which serves Wisconsin residents.

George, who retired three years ago after 27 years service at Johnson Motors, is a volunteer at St. Scholastica Church, Bristol, helping with everything from grounds maintenance to ministrations to parishioners.

The Antioch News welcomes letters to the editor. Letters should be on topics of general interest, approximately 150 words or less and be signed with home address and telephone number. Guest editorials

Editorial: Antioch loves basketball local or international flavor

If Antioch isn't the basketball capital of Illinois, we certainly can lay claim to being a hot bed of basketball interest.

Antioch's year in and year out reputation for outstanding high school teams has been highlighted by the Elite Eight ranking of the 1981 Sequoits. Now an international flavor has been added to Antioch laurels with the appearance here of the Republic of China National Junior Team.

The game in the Antioch gym between China and the 1981 Boys Junior Olympic team, which included John Ploss and Dee Maras from the Sequoit tournament team will be remembered for a long time by those who attended. The friendly competition and display of mutual respect demonstrated by the young men from two different nations was inspirational. When the national anthems of both the Republic of China and the United States were played there had to be a lump in the throat of just about every fan in the stands. We won't ever forget the experience.

Antioch can be proud of the way it supported John and Dee, their Junior Olympic teammates and the visitors from China. The Americans still can look forward to their visit next month to the Orient. We can look back on fond memories of a truly historic event in the sports history of our community.

Grandmother shops Antioch

A grandmother of four is the latest winner in the Antioch News' "Why I Like to Shop in Antioch." She is Mickey Greslik, a long-time resident of Cross Lake and a long-time Antioch shopper. We think her letter typifies the local shopping spirit. She will receive $10 for her letter.

by Mickey Greslik

I really enjoy shopping in Antioch because I find the stores are very convenient and they suit my needs.

I find that since I do business at the banks I can also get my groceries at the stores nearby without wasting gasoline or going out of my way.

Even though I am not a direct resident of Antioch, I think the stores provide a friendly service for people who shop there.

I never have trouble finding what I want in any of the stores.

I think Antioch should continue to grow, make progress and attract more satisfied customers like myself.

P.S. I live in Wisconsin right over the state line.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

Who says that the days of gracious living are a thing of the past?

Some of our local businessmen still know how to do things in grand style. At a Rotary party, held at the James Hamlin residence of Lake Marie, Hamlin and Vern Thelen had the best dressed butler and waiter in town, complete with full-dress tails and all.

They looked suspiciously like Jack Siegmeyer, Art Neckerman and Bud Scichowski.

Peg and Don Leider had visitors from Tucson last week when their daughter Lenora and her husband Lenny Price along with their grandchildren Kris and Kirk spent some time with them.

Congratulations to Dr. Al Bucar who was just re-elected secretary-treasurer of the American Optometric Society at the annual convention in Las Vegas.

Bucar will again take on the job of serving on the 20,300 member organization's board of trustees and he will also be responsible for the association's financial records and keeping meeting minutes.

Old Annie Mae will have to dig out her neck to knee swimsuit so she can take advantage of the adult swimming lessons offered by the parks department.

It seems no matter how many times I try, I still sink like the proverbial lead balloon.

The lessons will be held at the Aqua Center, from 6 to 6:45 p.m. each evening, Monday through Friday, starting July 13 through July 24, $10 for members, $15 for the public.

Well it's a six pound, 10 ounce baby boy for Mary and Paul Sural. Paul works for Antioch's Public Works Dept.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

Yesterday I read, in the Antioch News, that you eliminated the job of superintendent of public works. You justified this by saving the village some $30,000 in salary.

I believe that this decision of yours is a mistake. By doing this, you are depriving the village of Antioch of the leadership of a fine man!

It was under Walt Shepard that Antioch has one of the finest historical sites in the whole state, the mill.

It was his foresight and effort that took the idea from a blueprint and put it into what you have today. Also, it was under Walt Shepard that the Aqua Center was developed and put into operation.

It is now a very popular center of Antioch's summer program.

Lastly, Antioch has one of the finest road maintenance programs in the area. Antioch owns the necessary equipment for which a proper maintenance program is in effect.

In the big snow storm of 1976 and 1979, Antioch roads were always kept clear!

All of these things were due to the efforts of the Superintendent of Public Works Walt Shepard, a job that you think Antioch does not need!

You justify this on a monetary basis, but what about Shepard and his family?

Mr. Mayor, you are dealing with the lives of people not a set of salary figures on an account ledger.

I ask that you reconsider your decision.

New wrinkles added to Levas' lawsuit

by GLORIA DAVIS

The two-year-old lawsuit, filed against the village of Antioch by Levas T Shirts, may be close to being settled, now that the Illinois General Assembly has overwhelmingly passed the Drug Paraphernalia Control Act.

This bill will give law enforcement officials the authority to close down stores that sell equipment that is especially designed for injecting marijuana and other drugs.

Also under the bill, the penalty for the commercial selling of drug paraphernalia is a mandatory fine of $1,000.

Co-Sponsored by State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis, (R-Zion) the bill was sponsored in the house by State Rep. Roger Stanley (R-Streamwood) and State Rep. Phillip Bianco, (R-Chicago) and in the senate by State Sen.

John Friedland (R-South Elgin) and John Maitland, (R-Bloomington).

A similar bill was turned down by a slim margin last year.

According to Pete Levas, he understands, from his attorney, Mike Pritzher, that this will have no effect on the case in question.

The case is in the federal court of appeals, awaiting a state supreme court decision, after a Chicago Federal Court ruled in the village's favor, denying Levas' request for an injunction allowing the sale of parapher-nalium.

Levas says, "This has gone on too long, it isn't fair to us or the village."

Levas also brings up the possibility of a request for a temporary injunction allowing the paraphernalia sale until the supreme court comes through with a definite decision.

PM&L's 'Dream' opens Sat., July 25

William Shakespeare's lavishly colorful fantasy, "A Mid-summer Night's Dream," will open Saturday night, July 25, at the PM&L Theater, 877 Main Street in Antioch.

Subsequent performances of this great comedy are scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights, July 31 and August 1, 7 and 8.

A Sunday matinee is also set for August 2.

The curtain will rise at 8:30 p.m. for the evening performances, and at 2:30 p.m. for the Sunday matinee.

Famous for its pageantry, this outstanding comedy has been charming audiences consistently ever since it was first presented 386 years ago.

The story brings together three elements, a tale of love, an unbelievably raucous play-within-a-play, and a company of roguish and mischievous fairies and elves.

You may have read, in an earlier account, about the love story, centering on the wedding of Theseus, played in the PM&L production by D.H. Martin Domeracki, Antioch, and Hippolyta, Pat Sershon, Antioch.

In a later story, you may also read about the elves and fairies, who are led by Puck (Kevin Fitzgerald, Wonder Lake), one of the most mischievous trouble-makers ever seen on the English-speaking stage.

The infamous play-within-a-play, "The Most Lamentable Comedy and Most Cruel Death of Pyramus and Thisby", was for a time regarded as offensive and obscene, and was cut out of many productions of "A Mid-summer Night's Dream."

Late in the 1640s, the Puritans beheaded King Charles I and instituted a number of other cuts deep enough to put the Reagan Administration to shame.

Among the casualties were Pyramus and Thisby, thought to be too earthy for Puritan England, who were censored out of the play entirely.

Indeed, all of the original components of "A Mid-summer Night's Dream" were not reunited until 1827, in a German production. For that occasion the gifted composer Felix Mendelssohn wrote the still-popular incidental music for the show.

Pyramus and Thisby are staged by a group of rustics. Outstanding among them is Bottom the weaver, Frank Greenwood, Round Lake, who ranks with Falstaff among the great comic characters created by Shakespeare.

Supporting rustics in the PM&L cast are played by David Carlson, Charles Bishoff, Bill Seeman, and George Blanksten, Antioch, and by Steven Beno of Wildwood.

The PM&L production is directed by Don Beveroth. To see it, be sure to call 395-3055 for your reservations.

Also, remember to be at the PM&L box office by 8:15 p.m. on the night, or 2:15 p.m. on the afternoon, you plan to treat yourself to "A Mid-summer Night's Dream."

The fox is probably the only four-footed animal indigenous to Iceland.

'Pirates' dock

The Fool's Players' first show of the summer '81 season is "The Pirates of Penzance." Featured in this delightful Gilbert and Sullivan operetta are some of Lake County's best performers.

The romantic leading characters, Mabel and Frederic, will be performed by Ellie Piacenza and Keith Boehm.

Piacenza, a resident of Highwood, who has a degree in dance from Barat College, currently teaches dance and is a student of voice at the Chicago Conservatory.

Boehm, a 1980 graduate from Antioch High School, has regularly performed at the King Richard's Faire as well as PM&L Players, Antioch.

Other PM&L regulars include Larry Bullman as the pirate king and Tom Hausman as the major general.

Joan Kusher, who will be performing in the part of Ruth, the pirate nursemaid, and acting as vocal coach for the company, comes to us with a long list of practical and educational experience which includes study in Spain of music and interpretation with the composer Rodrigo.

Jeremy Todd, a veteran performer and currently drama therapist and child care specialist at Allendale School for Boys, will perform the part of Samuel, the right hand man of the pirate king.

Other veteran performers include Michael Deuel as the police sergeant, Lori Jo Rush as Edith, Elizabeth Soland as Isabella and Donna Marie Pedersen as Kate.

Pedersen is also one of the choreographers.

The other cast members are Dawn Marie Champey, Jennifer M. Biel, Jeannie Lindgren, Susan Butler, Gail Marlow, Andrea E. Kleban, Mary Faulkner-Jones, Rosline Truskey and Irene Neimanis as the daughters of the major general and Bruce S. Stamm, Mark Biel, Daniel Deul, Anthony Starke, David Krostal, Charles Bischoff, Michael Conners, Paul Biel, Ed Warner, Andrew Biel, Alex Apostol, and Joe Apostol as the pirates and police.

Performance dates for "The Pirates Of Penzance" are July 10, 11, 17 and 18 at 8 p.m.

For further information on the season, tickets or subscriptions, call (312) 395-3613.

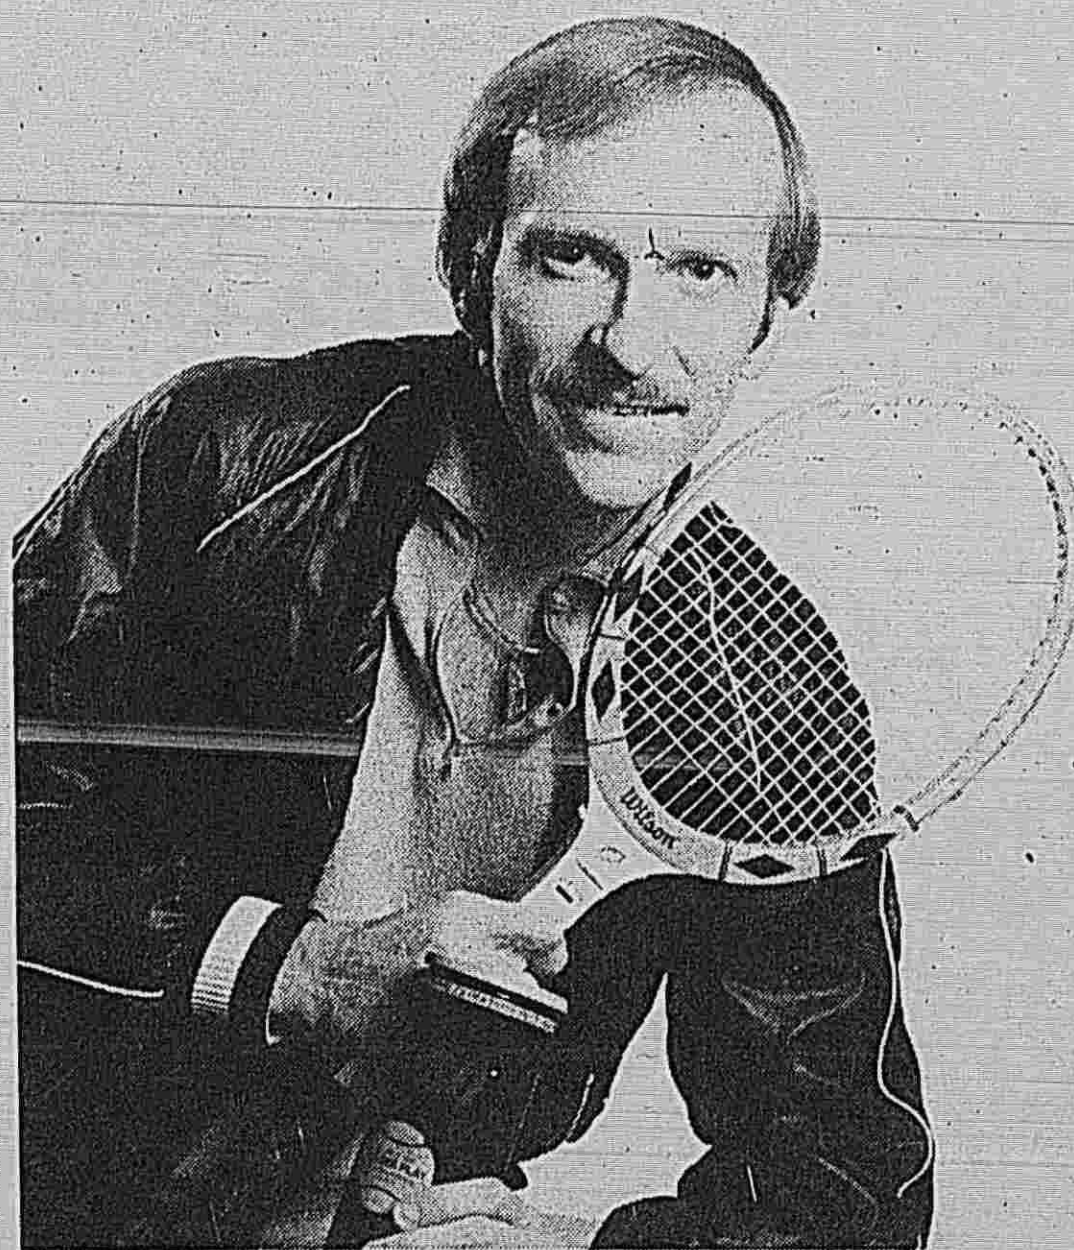

All performances will be at the Antioch High School auditorium at Routes 173 and 83 in Antioch.

GOP schedules golf outing

A short program at which golf prizes and awards will be made will take place at the close of the dinner hour.

"Starting times and golf carts should be reserved through the pro at Renwood, Pete Frandsen, phone 546-8242", said Bill Snodgrass, golf outing co-chairman. Snodgrass' co-chairman is Bob Neal and Frank Ogrin will be the chief scorer and starter.

Tickets are $30 for golf and a prime rib dinner, $17.50 for golf and lunch only and $17.50 for those who can only make the dinner.

Tickets are available through the Republican Headquarters, 228A N. Genesee St., Waukegan, call 623-0235, and all Republican elected officials and precinct committeemen throughout

Lake County.

County Chairman George Kangas stated, "We invite all our friends and supporters to be with us for a great time at this outstanding Republican event."

When I think about it Gloria: 'I wish I'd said that'

by GLORIA DAVIS

I'm a word nut and for years, like Eddie Cantor, "For me, browsing in a dictionary is like being turned loose in a bank."

One of my favorite descriptions of the word-people relationship comes from Adlai Stevenson who said, "Man does not live by words alone although he sometimes has to eat them."

For years Americans have taken to framing their favorite word combinations in to mottos, that made such profound statements in colonial times like the famed "There's No Place Like Home" sampler.

I'm a devotee of short, catchy, to the point, sayings and am prone to scatter them throughout my home and office so that they can sometimes serve as reminders, merely bring on a smile or maybe simply draw a sigh of "How true, how true!"

Above my dresser you'll find the lettering "An early bird takes naps," and in another corner, a hand painted square moans that "They warned me things were going to be bad, but this is ridiculous!"

In the kitchen, a mirror etching, given to me by a friend who knows me only too well, says, "I don't do windows or floors."

I've a wooden mushroom hanging above my stove, that describes a usual state of affairs by saying "This mess is a place, while a sign on my refrigerator keeps trying to convince me that "Fat is beautiful."

A placard in my den attests to the feelings of frustrated parents everywhere with "Insanity is hereditary, you get it from your kids."

One of my favorite adages is emblazoned on the front of my checkbook, "What you don't know can hurt you."

A label on the dash of my car says that "I'm too busy to be organized."

Some more of my favorites can be found peering from the walls that surround me and my typewriter during our labors of love quoting, "I only open my mouth to exchange my feet." Another is adamant about the fact that "My decision is maybe and that's final."

My greatest excuse "Once I thought I was wrong but I was mistaken," hangs right next to my desk and I love the sign in our layout room that asks "How can they expect me to soar like an eagle when I work with turkeys?"

I know none of these rank with some of the most famous quotations, but I like them because, as that wordy Mr. Thorndike once said, "Colors fade, temples crumble, empires fall but wise words endure."

GOP schedules golf outing

The Lake County Republican Open Golf Outing, sponsored by the Lake County Republican Central Committee, will be held Friday, July 10, at the Renwood Country Club on Hainesville Rd., Round Lake Beach.

Starting time for the golfers is 7 a.m. Dinner will be served between 5:30 and 8:00 p.m.

A short program at which golf prizes and awards will be made will take place at the close of the dinner hour.

"Starting times and golf carts should be reserved through the pro at Renwood, Pete Frandsen, phone 546-8242", said Bill Snodgrass, golf outing co-chairman. Snodgrass' co-chairman is Bob Neal and Frank Ogrin will be the chief scorer and starter.

Tickets are $30 for golf and a prime rib dinner, $17.50 for golf and lunch only and $17.50 for those who can only make the dinner.

Tickets are available through the Republican Headquarters, 228A N. Genesee St., Waukegan, call 623-0235, and all Republican elected officials and precinct committeemen throughout

Lake County.

County Chairman George Kangas stated, "We invite all our friends and supporters to be with us for a great time at this outstanding Republican event."

When I think about it Gloria: 'I wish I'd said that'

by GLORIA DAVIS

I'm a word nut and for years, like Eddie Cantor, "For me, browsing in a dictionary is like being turned loose in a bank."

One of my favorite descriptions of the word-people relationship comes from Adlai Stevenson who said, "Man does not live by words alone although he sometimes has to eat them."

For years Americans have taken to framing their favorite word combinations in mottos, that made such profound statements in colonial times like the famed "There's No Place Like Home" sampler.

I'm a devotee of short, catchy, to the point, sayings and am prone to scatter them throughout my home and office so that they can sometimes serve as reminders, merely bring on a smile or maybe simply draw a sigh of "How true, how true!"

Above my dresser you'll find the lettering "An early bird takes naps," and in another corner, a hand painted square moans that "They warned me things were going to be bad, but this is ridiculous!"

In the kitchen, a mirror etching, given to me by a friend who knows me only too well, says, "I don't do windows or floors."

I've a wooden mushroom hanging above my stove that describes a usual state of affairs by saying "This mess is a place, while a sign on my refrigerator keeps trying to convince me that "Fat is beautiful."

A placard in my den attests to the feelings of frustrated parents everywhere with "Insanity is hereditary, you get it from your kids."

One of my favorite adages is emblazoned on the front of my checkbook, "What you don't know can hurt you."

A label on the dash of my car says that "I'm too busy to be organized."

Some more of my favorites can be found peering from the walls that surround me and my typewriter during our labors of love quoting, "I only open my mouth to exchange my feet." Another is adamant about the fact that "My decision is maybe and that's final."

My greatest excuse "Once I thought I was wrong but I was mistaken," hangs right next to my desk and I love the sign in our layout room that asks "How can they expect me to soar like an eagle when I work with turkeys?"
